

Editorial Notice.

The editor of this paper, in pursuance of other duties which require his attention, will be temporarily absent from his customary post, the tripod of the VEDETTE and the quill. He leaves the editorial quill in competent hands, and has no doubt that his readers will be well satisfied with the change. Variety is said to be the spice of life, but in a newspaper it is the quintessence of all that is good. The same policy which has marked our course in the conduct of the VEDETTE will be continued by our substitute, and the same spirit of devotion to the real living interests of the people will pervade his writings.

Departure.

This morning, Brigadier-General Connor, accompanied by Capt. Hempstead of the staff, and Ben. Holladay, Esq., left on the eastern coach for a trip down the road. Gen. Connor will proceed at this time as far east as Denver, and perhaps to Fort Kearney, to take a look at the field and ascertain the feasibility of punishing the hostile tribes in that vicinity by a winter campaign. After ascertaining the facts, if they concur with the General's present views and information, he proposes to organize an expedition against the savages, the successful result of which will, we apprehend, prevent further molestation along the mail and emigrant routes. In the meantime, Companies L and M of the 2d Cavalry, will be far on the way to the proposed field of operations and ready for a vigorous campaign. These two companies have been thoroughly reorganized with special view to this expedition. The ranks are full, one hundred men each, under active and accomplished officers. Their equipments are of the most perfect kind, and everything possible has been done pertaining to efficiency and comfort. The expedition will move along the stage road early to-morrow morning under the command of Captain Brown of Company L.

General Connor will be absent about three weeks. Should a winter campaign be deemed at all feasible, the General will organize his expedition to that end and at the proper time return to the neighborhood of Denver and command in person.

PASSING THROUGH.—Yesterday we had the pleasure of meeting two of the Representatives of the State of Oregon who arrived on the western coach from California, viz: U. S. Senator Harding, and Congressman McBride. These gentlemen are en route eastward to assume their seats in the next session of Congress, which will assemble on the first Monday in December next.

Senator Harding was elected to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of the lamented Colonel Baker, who fell at Ball's Bluff in 1861, gallantly leading his regiment on the field of battle. The term of Mr. Harding will expire on the 4th of March next, and the State of Oregon at the last session of the Legislature elected Judge Williams as his successor.

Mr. McBride has earned an enviable reputation during his term in Congress as an able representative fully alive to the wants of the Pacific coast. These gentlemen will tarry in Salt Lake City a few days to rest and see the sights, and will then resume their journey over the Continent.

A CROWD OF PASSENGERS.—The Moses Taylor, which sailed on Wednesday, carried off the unusually large number of 640 passengers, among whom were nearly fifty discharged volunteers, who go east for the purpose of enlisting to fight.—Flag, Oct. 21.

[SPECIAL TO THE UNION DAILY VEDETTE.]

A raid on Ogdensburg imminent. OGDENSBURG, N. Y., Nov. 3d.

A large number of armed men are on the Island above, and many strangers were in town all day. A raid on the place is supposed to be imminent. All business is suspended. Men and arms have been sent for.

Trial of the officers for committing frauds on soldier votes in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3d.

The trial of Col. North, New York State Agent, Levi Cohen, M. M. Jones, Reeves and Schofield, charged with conduct prejudicial to good order and military discipline, and of fraud toward the New York State elections, in that they forged the names of officers and soldiers to what purported to be ballots of the said soldiers, to be used at the election on November 8th. They also are charged as falsely and fraudulently issuing blanks purported to be signed by officers and soldiers authorizing certain parties to cast their votes at the ensuing State and National election with the intent to defraud the true elector of his rights, commenced to-day before the Military Commission. Gen. Doubleday is President and Col. Foster is Judge Advocate.

Plots to destroy Northern towns—Frauds perpetrated on sailors votes, but are timely detected.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3d.

The Commercial's special says: Information of plots to destroy the Northern towns comes to the State Department from official sources in the Provinces. The authorities of the various cities have made ample preparations against all raids. Commanders of Federal troops it is reported, have instructions to inflict summary punishment. Some say if pursuit is made into Canada it will be overlooked by the Canadians.

Captain Pennock, commanding the Mississippi squadron, reports that base frauds have been perpetrated on the ballots of sailors by election agents.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3d.

A Nashville letter of the 1st, says Hood has crossed the Tennessee, near Florence, with at least a portion of his forces, and Sherman is promptly moving troops to meet the new order of things.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.

Charles Windsor, for the last fourteen years paying teller of the Mercantile bank at this place, disappeared Saturday, and on examining his cash account he was found to be a defaulter to the amount of $207,000 in currency, and $34,000 in gold. A reward of $5,000 for his arrest and $15,000 for the recovery of the money is offered.

OGDENSBURG, Nov. 3.

The propeller which arrived to-day, reported an organized rebel force as occupying Wells and Maple Leaf Islands, 18 miles above this city. She also reported armed men on the island below, and a number of strangers had been in town during the day, a majority of whom disappeared at dark in the direction of the islands. Five men were arrested, but refused to give an account of themselves. They were armed with revolvers. A tug boat passed down this evening, haggard the American shore, with about forty men on board. A force was sent to reconnoiter in the direction of the islands. Our citizens are forming companies, and are stationed at the railroad depots, etc. Flour, grain, etc., are being sent away, and extensive preparations are being made for the defense.

St. Louis, Nov. 3d.

The Santa Fe mail coach arrived at Kansas City on Friday last, with a full load of passengers. The conductor reports all quiet along the entire route. Government trains are arriving at the different forts in the Territory, and the present peaceful state of the several Indian tribes promises to continue during the winter.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 3.

The Journal says a gang of guerrillas made a raid on the Louisville and Nashville railroad yesterday, striking it at Cave City. Several negro soldiers were captured and killed. The scoundrels, after perpetrating this outrage, retreated from the road in great haste.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4th.

The Times's special says: Terry, just convicted and sentenced to State Prison for life, and who on his trial made a formal confession, is now disposed to be more communicative, and says he had been for some time before his arrest, sick of the whole business and was only waiting to receive replies to letters addressed by him to Peter Cagger and other prominent Democratic politicians in New York, which would prove their complicity beyond peradventure, when he intended voluntarily to make a complete exposure of the whole thing; that if the arrest of himself and his confederates had been postponed for another week, he would have been able to fix the guilt of the whole transaction from its incipency, to where it belonged. This morning Capt. Gages, 17th U. S. infantry, arrived here from the front, having in charge Lieut. Murphy of the 7th N. Y. artillery, who, it is stated, is implicated in the election fraud, by signing blanks. Murphy was arrested by order of the Secretary of War, and has been committed to the old Capitol prison for investigation.

Late rebel dispatches give particulars of a movement of Hood's army from Gadsden, Ala., towards Gunter's Landing on the Tennessee river. Most astounding results are prophesied. But, says a correspondent of the Savannah Republican, it is to be regretted that Hood's army is so badly provided with blankets and shoes on this extraordinary movement, as whole regiments are bare footed, while blankets with any of the men, is rather an exception than a rule.

The garrison of Atlanta is given as 6,000 effective men.

The Richmond Sentinel, the official organ of Jeff. Davis, strongly advocates placing slaves in the rebel army.

Lee in his official report of the surprise of our pickets in front of Petersburg last Sunday night, claims that our line was swept for half a mile, and that 230 of our men were captured.

A young man was arrested in Toronto the other day for kissing his hand to a young lady who was passing along the opposite side of the street.

THE DAKOTA WAR.—We learn from information brought down yesterday by boats from the Upper Missouri, that Gen. Sully had not yet abandoned the Indian chase. In order to understand the magnitude of this Indian war, let the reader turn to some good map of the Upper Missouri—Warren's is the best, indeed the only good one we know of—and find Sioux City at the mouth of the Big Sioux, whence the expedition started. From that town one branch of the expedition started by land, under Gen. Sully, while the principal stores went by steamboat. It stopped a while at Fort Randall, and passed on to Fort Sully, a new military station built last year just below the old site of Fort Pierre. There the General was joined by a regiment from Minnesota and passed up the river to the mouth of the Cannon Ball, flowing in from the west. Just opposite is Long Lake, on the table lands a few miles from the river, and the whole country is said to be greatly superior to anything between it and Yankton. Here, on the west side of the Missouri, he built Fort Rice, by far the most complete military post in the Territory. Fort Randall is much larger, but not at all calculated for defence, being a mere military village, while this new Fort is unassailable by any power the Indians can bring to bear upon it. Before reaching this high point no decided indications of actual Indian hostilities had been seen. Indeed, there has not been a summer for the last three or four years so peaceable in lower Dakota as the past. But reports reached the General that a large body of hostile Sioux had assembled one hundred and fifty miles west, and he hurried up to pay his respects to them. Nothing later had been heard from him than has been given to the public. He met them and was driving them by artillery. The number killed cannot be told, but probably not much over a hundred. He was still pursuing when our informants left, and it was hoped they would again make a stand. But the Indian, though a good fighter at short range, cannot stand shell. His arrows and buck-shot guns are terrible weapons within reach, more effective than the best muskets, but a howitzer is a different thing entirely, and inspires a wholesome dread. It is greatly to be feared they will prevent any rally of the hostiles, any stand that shall enable us to punish them. But we hope soon to hear that General Sully has met them again, and so thoroughly whipped them as to make permanent peace on our north-western frontier.—St. Joseph Tribune, Sept. 4th.

FATAL ACCIDENT IN OREGON.—The Enterprise (Oregon) Review of the 8th of October gives the following particulars of a fatal accident:

On last Wednesday morning a young man named Marion Thornbury, aged about 20 years, accidentally shot himself dead, near the residence of his parents, on Henry A. Owen's farm, four miles below town. It seems that a wren had been carrying off the chickens from Thornbury's place, and the son had a double-barreled shot-gun well loaded with small shot, ready to fire on the depredator on sight. While at breakfast that morning he heard the chickens give token that their enemy was near. He instantly seized his gun and ran out. In a few minutes the report of his gun was heard, and in a short time his shout, as if in distress. His parents went in the direction of the cry, and found the unfortunate young man speechless, senseless, almost dead, weltering in his blood, near the road, a hundred yards or so from the house. From appearances he had seated himself on a large rotten log in some brush, holding his gun loosely under the arm, and in getting up, the weapon slipped, one of the triggers hit on the log, sprung the hammer and discharged the barrel, the whole charge penetrating the lower part of his side and penetrating diagonally upward toward his breast. He had dragged himself through the brush and timber some rods in the direction of the house, but his strength had ebbed away, and his alarming cry was the only sound heard from his lips. He was carried to the house, and died in a few minutes after.

EARTHQUAKE.—A heavy earthquake shock was felt on Friday morning last, about 8 o'clock, in San Juan South.—S. F. Flag.

A wit and a fool in company are like a crab and an oyster; the one watches till the other opens his mouth, that he may eat him.

MATCH INCOME.—It is stated that the Government will derive $3,500,000 of revenue from friction matches.

SAD ACCIDENT.—Yesterday morning, Richard Allman and C. E. Long were traveling in a buggy down to Dayton, and when about half way between Silver City and Dayton their horses became frightened and went dashing madly down the road, upsetting the buggy and throwing them both out, injuring them somewhat. The horses, with the buggy, went on, dashing past a quartz team, where unfortunately a little boy of some eight years of age happened to be passing, and in his fright he was caught between the two vehicles and instantly killed, his brains being dashed out and several of his ribs and one of his legs being broken. He was the son of Mrs. Snyder, who lives at the Evening Star House, near the scene of the accident.—Vir. Union, Oct. 21.

Local Matters.

To the Voters of Gen. Connor's Command.

On Tuesday next you are to cast your vote for the Chief Magistrate of the greatest Nation in the wide world—you are to ballot for a man to preside over the destinies of the whole American people—you are to choose a Commanding Officer over our United States, and you are to give your preference for the ruler of our once happy but now distracted country. By this act on the one hand, you will give your voice, your sentiment, your heart and your hand for the re-union of the thirty-six States, emblazoned on the National Standard of America; for the upholding and sustenance of our glorious and defiant emblem—that symbol for which so many of your brave comrades have, in this unprecedented struggle for liberty, been buried in the ground which Washington secured for you—for the subjugation and crushing of the most inhuman, infernal and atrocious rebellion ever recorded in the pages of history—for a vindication of your rights as American citizens—for the overthrow and total demolition of Copperheadism—~~an~~ framed for the renunciation of the principles and administration of the most benign and humane Government ever given by God to man—a cowardly assassinating horde, whose platform is the destruction of our Government, the giving of every aid to the traitors and their brothers of the South—the establishment of the Southern Confederacy with Jeff. Davis for their President—and the overthrow of American liberty and American freedom. On the other hand, you denounce the Constitution of your country—you yield the land for which the fathers of our Nation bled and died—you will call upon your heads the everlasting curse of Washington, Jefferson, Jackson, Clay, Webster and Douglas—you lose your home, your happiness, your prosperity and your liberty—you will forget the manly struggle of the brave Anderson and his little host at Sumter—you forget the dastardly murder of the gallant Ellsworth at Washington—you forget the cruel imprisonment of the heroic Cochrane of the glorious 69th—you forget the inhuman murders and atrocious barbarities of the troops at Fort Pillow—you are unmindful of the neglect, killing and torture of your comrades in hospitals and rebel prisons—in fact you are lost to the name and proud title of America's son. Comrades, you are either to vote for a man who has conducted the affairs of our Nation through a struggle of four years duration—a period of war, turmoil and bloodshed—to the satisfaction of every loyal man in America—a man who is honest, who is able, and a man who is in body and soul devoted to his country, its interests, its welfare and its prosperity—a man who loves the American soldier, who glories in their victories, appreciates their unequalled bravery and commiserates with their sufferings and hardships—one who has given you Grant, Sherman, Thomas, Sheridan, Hancock, Warren, Pleasanton, Rosecrans, Custar, and other heroes to lead you to victory—one that will restore to you a happy, prosperous and united country, and one who will crown America as the land of Liberty and Union for evermore.

Soldiers, remember next Tuesday as the day of the salvation or the humiliation of the United States, and as the bugle sounds throughout the Camp its signal for getting up, arise from your beds with the firm resolve and unflinching determination that you will still cling to your flag—that your vote shall be Lincoln and Johnson—be convinced that they are the only men who can save our country from ruin—show your ticket to your comrades in your quarters—carry it to the Parade Ground, show it there—go to the Polls and proudly boast that you cast it for Abraham Lincoln and Andrew Johnson.

Forget the weak, imbecile and incompetent General who sits idly gaping in the gorgeous saloon of a gunboat and allowed thousands of your brave comrades to be slain in the field of battle, and be not willing to extricate them from the folly of his unwise strategy. Cast him aside and remember the savior of you, of us, and of our beloved Union. Vote for Lincoln and Johnson, and God and your country will reward you forever.

The National Minstrel Troupe have afforded the best opportunity for fun and real side-splitting laughter that has ever been our fortune to enjoy in this Camp. There's no humbug about them; their jokes, puns and burlesques are all original and new—a feature that stamps them at once in the public favor. Stale sayings are with them "played out." Billy Sheppard is a host within himself—and is in every true sense of the word a star "Minstrel," and a brick in the Ethiopian-delineating profession. Van Nest and Treanor must not be dropped either—they are first rate. Any one who likes fun, and that of the right stamp, should not fail to visit this Troupe. Billy Sheppard in the "Ghost" scene alone is sufficient to bring down the house.

Capt. Albert Brown, 2d Cavalry, C. V., leaves Camp on Sunday in command of Company L, Lieut. Denney and Company M, Captain George F. Price. They will proceed as far as Fort Kearney. The California Volunteers are a terror to the red skins, and we doubt not but that if any hostile Indians make their appearance they will be forcibly reminded of the lesson given them at Bear River, January 29th, 1863.

Gen. Connor, accompanied by Captain C. H. Hempstead of his staff, leave Camp to day for the east to look after the troubles on the Overland route.

A Sad Story.—A correspondent of the Mobile Register, writing at Atlanta, relates the following:

Not many months ago, there arrived at a Confederate port, one of the most notable of the blockade runners, a very unassuming woman—scarce such, indeed, for she was scarcely out of her teens—of an extremely handsome person. She had gone to Nassau from Paris, and sailed thence for the south. She brought with her an abundant wardrobe, and a sufficiency of means to last her for two or three years at the present high rate of living. Her object in visiting this country was to discover the fate of an only brother, a Colonel in our service, who placed her at Geney's school when the war began. She had not heard from him during six months, became anxious, and finally set out on her long and perilous journey. Her anxiety proved too well founded. Her brother had been killed at Gettysburg, and she found herself alone and a stranger in his native land. She went first to Augusta, then to Mobile; here she lost a trunk containing all her gold. At this critical juncture she met a handsome field officer, fell in love, engaged in flirtation, then in an amour, and accompanied him as far as Atlanta on his way to the front. He fell at Chickamauga. What her life became you can guess. She died last week, and was tumbled in the ground in the public cemetery.—There's a story for you; weep over it.

DEATH OF WALTER SAVAGE LANDOR.—Our European advices inform us of the death at Florence, on the 17th of Sept., of one of the most distinguished members of the English literary circles of that city, the aged Walter Savage Landor. He was born in 1775, and was therefore 89 years old. He was educated at Rugby and Oxford, but quitted the University without a degree. In 1808 he raised at his personal cost a body of troops in aid of the Spanish patriots, by whom he was created a Colonel in the Spanish army. Since his marriage—with the exception of a few years at Bath—he has resided abroad, chiefly at Florence. Among his works, we may mention "Count Julian," a tragedy; "Gebir," an epic poem, which he afterwards translated into Latin; "Imaginary Conversations," in five volumes, and "Pericles and Aspasia." In 1857 he published "Dry Sticks Fagoted," which contained personal allusions to a lady in Bath, and occasioned great scandal, for which Landor was prosecuted and compelled to pay £1,000 damages. His last work was a small collection of verses in English and Latin, marked by all the characteristics of his peculiar genius.

A SPANISH JOKE.—A lady correspondent of the Boston Post, who assumes to know how boys ought to be trained writes as follows: "O, mothers, hunt out the soft, tender, genial side of your boy's nature!" On which the Post remarks: "Mothers often do, with an old shoe, to the boy's benefit."

A gentleman by the name of Pepper informed one of his friends that he had been frequently thrown from a spirited horse, and remarked at the same time, "I have never given him a name."—"I think," observed his friend, "you should call him Pepper-caster."
